I got your voice mail and thank you for following up with the USACE on the status of their work. Also, when you mentioned having trouble getting someone in the USACE to respond to your email, I thought it might have something to do with the information Katherine Garufi forwarded to me in the email below.

Hey everyone.

It has come to my attention by USACE that Microsoft Outlook is causing some delivery problems for emails to USACE. When EPA enters an incorrect email address for USACE, EPA does NOT receive a "failed email" notification. Therefore, we might be sending USACE emails that they are never receiving (and we never know that).

To avoid this from continuing to occur, I have attached a list of contracts with emails for key USACE personnel to ensure that you all are using the correct information when sending emails or filling out IA decision memorandums.

I STRONGLY encourage that you go into your Microsoft Outlook address book and make sure that the email you have for these USACE folks are indeed correct. That way, when you type their name in, the CORRECT name will auto populate. Please also reference this list when you are filling out IGMS decision memorandums for IAs.

Thanks!

Kate
